United States Court of Appeals,
Sixth Circuit.
AMERICAN BANK & TRUST COMPANY,
Plaintiff-Appellant,

v.

Jan L. WALLACE, Wallace Motor Company, Jan
Michael Wallace, Wallace Leasing Company, Inc.,
E.L. Wallace, Anna L. Wallace, Neda Wallace and
First Security National Bank and Trust Company of Lexington, Defendants-Appellees.

No. 82-5044.

Argued Jan. 11, 1983.

Decided March 10, 1983.

Plaintiff appealed from a judgment of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Kentucky, 529 F.Supp. 258, Scott Reed, J., which dismissed its action for fraud and deceit in connection with the giving of a promissory note. The Court of Appeals, Cornelia G. Kennedy, Circuit Judge, held that short-term 30-day promissory note given in connection with a commercial loan transaction, which evidenced a loan and not an investment, was not a "security" within meaning of federal securities laws; thus, district court lacked subject-matter jurisdiction where action was based solely on federal securities laws.

Affirmed.

(Formerly 349Bk42, 349Bk14)

Short-term 30-day promissory note given in connection with a commercial loan transaction, which evidenced a loan and not an investment, was not a "security" within meaning of federal securities laws; thus, district court lacked subject-matter jurisdiction where action for fraud and deceit in connection with giving a promissory note, which was based solely on federal securities laws. CORNELIA G. KENNEDY, Circuit Judge.

American Bank and Trust Company appeals from a judgment of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Kentucky dismissing its action for fraud and deceit in connection with the giving of a promissory note. Appellant contends the note was procured in violation of the anti-fraud provisions of federal and state securities laws. Jurisdiction was based solely on federal security laws, Section 27 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (15 U.S.C. § 78aa) Section 22 of the Securities Act of 1933 (15 U.S.C. § 77v). As we agree with the District Court, 529 F.Supp. 258, that the short-term (30-day) note given by the appellees to the appellant in this commercial loan transaction was not a "security" and that the federal court was without jurisdiction, we affirm.

Appellees sought to borrow $300,000.00 from appellant. Appellant alleges that in the course of the negotiations, Jan L. Wallace (Wallace) made fraudulent misrepresentations and failed to state material facts necessary in order to make the statements, in light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading. In reliance upon Wallace's misrepresentations, appellant approved the loan and suffered money damages when appellees were unable to honor their obligation. Appellees' motions to dismiss the complaint pursuant to Fed.R.Civ.P. 12(b)(1) was sustained as to appellant's federal claims, and the pendent state claims were consequently dismissed*94 under the doctrine of United Mine Workers of America v. Gibbs, 383 U.S. 715, 726, 86 S.Ct. 1130, 1139, 16 L.Ed.2d 218 (1966). The sole issue raised on appeal is whether the note purchased by American Bank from appellees is a "security" subject to the anti-fraud provisions of federal securities laws.

"The search for the definition of a 'security' must necessarily commence with the language of the statute." Union Planters National Bank of Memphis v. Commercial Credit Business Loans, Inc., 651 F.2d 1174, 1179 (6th Cir.), cert. denied, 454 U.S. 1124, 102 S.Ct. 972, 71 L.Ed.2d 111 (1981), citing Rubin v. United States, 449 U.S. 424, 101 S.Ct. 698, 66 L.Ed.2d 633 (1981). Section 3(a)(10) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 [15 U.S.C. § 78c(a)(10)] provides in pertinent part:

The term "security" means any note, ...; but shall not include currency or any note, ... which has a maturity at the time of issuance of not exceeding nine months, exclusive of days of grace, or any renewal thereof the maturity of which is likewise limited.

If construed literally, the 1934 Act would cover no note, whether commercial or investment in nature, with a maturity not exceeding nine months, and would cover all notes with a maturity in excess of nine months. Courts, however, have declined to apply the letter of the law under circumstances which would violate the spirit of the law.<sup>FN1</sup> "The [1934] Act is for the protection of investors, and its provisions must be read accordingly."<sup>FN2</sup> Thus, regardless of maturity-length, notes have been subjected to the anti-fraud provisions of the 1934 Act<sup>FN3</sup> where they were investment, and not commercial, in nature.<sup>FN4</sup>

FN2. Zeller v. Bogue Electric Manufacturing Corporation, 476 F.2d 795, 800 (2d Cir.), cert. denied, 414 U.S. 908, 94 S.Ct. 217, 38 L.Ed.2d 146 (1973); Sanders v. John Nuveen & Co., Inc., 463 F.2d 1075, 1079-1080 (7th Cir.), cert. denied, 409 U.S. 1009, 93 S.Ct. 443, 34 L.Ed.2d 302 (1972).

FN3. 15 U.S.C. § 78j provides:

It shall be unlawful for any person, directly or indirectly, by the use of any means or instrumentality of interstate commerce or of the mails, or of any facility of any national securities exchange-

(a) To effect a short sale, or to use or employ any stop-loss order in connection with the purchase or sale, of any security registered on a national securities exchange, in contravention of such rules and regulations as the Commission may prescribe as necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors.

(b) To use or employ, in connection with the purchase or sale of any security registered on a national securities exchange or any security not so registered, any manipulative or deceptive device or contrivance in contravention of such rules and regulations as the Commission may prescribe as necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors.

Rule 10b-5 provides:

Employment of Manipulative and Deceptive Devices.

It shall be unlawful for any person, directly or indirectly, by the use of any means or instrumentality of interstate commerce, or of the mails, or of any facility of a national securities exchange,

(1) to employ any device, scheme or artifice to defraud,

(2) to make any untrue statement of a material fact or to omit to state a material fact necessary in order to make the statements made, in the light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading, or

(3) to engage in any act, practice or course of business, which operates or would operate as a fraud or deceit upon any person, in connection with the purchase or sale of any security.

FN4. See Bellah v. First National Bank, 495 F.2d 1109, 1112 (5th Cir.1974) and cases cited therein.

This reasoning gives due recognition to the Supreme Court's admonition in S.E.C. v. Capital Gains Research Bureau, Inc., 375 U.S. 180, 195, 84 S.Ct. 275, 284, 11 L.Ed.2d 237 (1963) that anti-fraud securities legislation is to be read "not technically and restrictively, but flexibly to effectuate its remedial purposes," and is compatible with that expressed in S.E.C. v. C.M. Joiner Leasing Corporation, 320 U.S. 344, 350-351, 64 S.Ct. 120, 123, 88 L.Ed. 88 (1943):

"However well these rules [of statutory construction] may serve at times to aid in deciphering legislative intent, they long have been subordinated to the doctrine that courts will construe the details of an act in conformity with its dominating general purpose, will read text in light of context and will interpret the texts so far as the meaning of the words fairly permits so as to carry out in particular cases the generally expressed legislative policy." (footnote omitted).

The effect of judicial interpretation on the 1934 Act was explained in McClure v. First National Bank of Lubbock, Texas, 497 F.2d 490, 495 (5th Cir.1974), reh'g denied, 502 F.2d 1167 (5th Cir.), cert. denied, 420 U.S. 930, 95 S.Ct. 1132, 43 L.Ed.2d 402 (1975):

We realize that our holding today that the Act does not apply to commercial notes of a longer duration than nine months, taken with the decisions voiding the short-term exemption as to investment paper, virtually writes that exemption out of the law. On one hand, the Act covers all investment notes, no matter how short their maturity, because they are not encompassed by the "any note" language of the exemption. On the other hand, the Act does not cover any commercial notes, no matter how long their maturity, because they fall outside the “any note” definition of a security. Thus, the investment or commercial nature of a note entirely controls the applicability of the Act, depriving of all utility the exemption based on maturity-length. The original scrivener of the definitional section may well wonder what happened to his carefully drawn exemption on the way to the courthouse, but if the judicial decisions do not properly reflect the intent of Congress as to the coverage of the Act, only that body can properly rectify the situation at this point, if stare decisis is to apply and the Supreme Court does not make some definitive decision contrary to the presently decided cases.

*95 The Securities Act of 1933 differs somewhat in its handling of short-term commercial paper. As explained in Zeller, 476 F.2d at 799:

Under the 1933 Act, while § 2(1) [15 U.S.C. 77b(1)] provides that any note is a “security,” § 3(a)(3) [15 U.S.C. § 77c(a)(3)] exempts from the registration and prospectus requirements “[a]ny note, ..., which has a maturity at the time of issuance of not exceeding nine months, exclusive of days of grace, or any renewal thereof the maturity of which is likewise limited.” However, § 17 [15 U.S.C. 77q] the general anti-fraud provision, provides in subsection c that the exemptions of § 3 shall be inapplicable.

If this language is interpreted literally, the anti-fraud provisions of the 1933 Act would apply to any note, regardless of its nature (commercial or investment) or duration (exceeding or not exceeding nine months). Courts have declined to so interpret the Act.

To expand the reach of those [federal securities]

acts to ordinary commercial loan transactions would distort congressional purpose as we interpret it.

Great Western Bank & Trust v. Kotz, 532 F.2d 1252, 1260 (9th Cir.1976). Accordingly, the 30-day duration of the Wallaces' promissory note does not per se remove it from the purview of either the 1934 or the 1933 Act.

Each of the Acts includes “any note” within its definition of a “security,” and at the same time limits that broad definition with the qualification that notes are securities “unless the context otherwise requires.” Thus,

[t]he task has fallen to the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), the body charged with administering the Securities Acts, and ultimately to the federal courts to decide which of the myriad financial transactions in our society come within the coverage of these statutes.

United Housing Foundation, Inc. v. Forman, 421 U.S. 837, 848, 95 S.Ct. 2051, 2058, 44 L.Ed.2d 621 (1975).

The circuits are split with respect to the analysis to be applied in defining a “security,” although the results reached under the various suggested tests are virtually identical. Generally, the circuits have rejected a literal application of the definitional sections of the securities acts <sup>FN5</sup> and have focused<sup>*96</sup> upon the “economic realities” underlying the transaction. See Forman, 421 U.S. at 848, 95 S.Ct. at 2058; Tcherepnin v. Knight, 389 U.S. 332, 336, 88 S.Ct. 548, 553, 19 L.Ed.2d 564 (1967).

FN5. But see, Exchange National Bank of Chicago v. Touche Ross & Co., 544 F.2d 1126 (2d Cir.1976), where Judge Friendly, writing for the Second Circuit deviated from the “commercial investment dichotomy” employed in MovieLab, Inc. v. Ber-

key Photo, Inc., 452 F.2d 662 (2d Cir.1971) and Zeller, supra, and stated that “the best alternative now available may lie in greater recourse to the statutory language.” Id., at 1137. Accordingly, he focused upon the “any note” and “unless the context otherwise requires” language of the acts to conclude that

“One can readily think of many cases where [‘the context otherwise requires’]-the note delivered in consumer financing, the note secured by a mortgage on a home, the short-term note secured by a lien on a small business or some of its assets, the note evidencing a “character” loan to a bank customer, short-term notes secured by an assignment of accounts receivable, or a note which simply formalizes an open-account debt incurred in the ordinary course of business (particularly if, as in the case of the customer of a broker, it is collateralized). When a note does not bear a strong family resemblance to these examples and has a maturity exceeding nine months, § 10(b) of the 1934 Act should generally be held to apply.” (footnote omitted)

In focusing on the economic realities to distinguish securities transactions from commercial dealings, the Court has used a test which, in “shorthand form”:

... embodies the essential attributes that run through all of the Court's decisions defining a security. The touchstone is (1) the presence of an investment (2) in a common venture (3) premised on a reasonable expectation of profits (4) to be derived from the entrepreneurial or managerial efforts of others.

Forman, supra, at 852 [95 S.Ct. at 2060].<sup>9</sup>

FN9. The genesis of this test is SEC v. W.J. Howey Co., 328 U.S. 293, 301 [66 S.Ct. 1100, 1104, 90 L.Ed. 1244] (1946)...

Union Planters, 651 F.2d at 1180-1181.

In Union Planters, supra, at 1181-1182, this Circuit employed the “risk capital” test set forth in Kotz, supra, at 1257, to determine whether a loan participation agreement between two financial institutions constituted a “security” within the meaning of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

The “risk capital” test focuses on six criteria: 1) time; 2) collateral; 3) form of the obligation; 4) circumstances of issuance; 5) relationship between amount borrowed and size of borrower's business; and 6) intended use of funds.

See also United California Bank v. THC Financial Corp., 557 F.2d 1351, 1358 (9th Cir.1977). Additionally, this Circuit cited with approval Judge Wright's concurring opinion in Kotz, which suggested the approach that no note given to evidence a bank loan be considered a “security.” Union Planters, supra, at 1182. Application of the risk capital test substantiates the District Court's conclusion that the Wallaces' promissory note evidenced a loan and not an investment, a commercial note and not a security. It was a short-term note-30 days. It was partially collateralized and, therefore, repayment was not totally dependent upon the Wallaces' managerial and entrepreneurial efforts. The form of the obligation was that of a typical short-term promissory note. The impetus for the transaction came from Wallace, as borrower, rather than from the bank, as investor. And, the bank was to derive only interest on its loan, not profits. The only element of this transaction which was “investment” in nature was the fact that a relatively large amount of money was being borrowed on a relatively small business. That factor is of negligible importance, however, because although the funds were to be used to start a new automobile leasing business, the loan was to be repaid from the proceeds to be derived from the sales of two other established businesses.

Applying the “commercial-investment dichotomy” of the Third, Fifth, Seventh and Tenth Circuits, the conclusion is likewise inescapable that the promissory note given to appellant was not a security. See United American Bank of Nashville v. Gunter, 620 F.2d 1108 (5th Cir.1980); National Bank of Commerce of Dallas v. All American Assurance Company, 583 F.2d 1295 (5th Cir.1978); Woodward v. Metro Bank of Dallas, 522 F.2d 84 (5th Cir.1975); McClure, supra, Zabriskie v. Lewis, 507 F.2d 546 (10th Cir.1974); Bellah v. First National Bank of Hereford, 495 F.2d 1109 (5th Cir.1974), and Lino v. City Investing Co., 487 F.2d 689 (3rd Cir.1973). As expressed in C.N.S. Enterprises, Inc. v. G & G Enterprises, Inc., 508 F.2d 1354, 1359 (7th Cir.1975):

*97 In one sense every lender of money is an investor since he places his money at risk in anticipation of a profit in the form of interest. Also in a broad sense every investor lends his money to a borrower who uses it for a price and is expected to return it one day.

On the other hand, the polarized extremes are conceptually identifiable: buying shares of the common stock of a publicly-held corporation, where the impetus for the transaction comes from the person with the money, is an investment; borrowing money from a bank to finance the purchase of an automobile, where the impetus for the transaction comes from the person who needs the money, is a loan. In between is a gray area which, in the absence of further congressional indication of intent or Supreme Court construction has been and must be in the future subjected to case-by-case treatment.

On that spectrum the transaction was clearly commercial in nature. The impetus for this transaction came from the Wallaces who wished to borrow money from American Bank and Trust Company to finance a new business. Moreover repayment of the loan was not made contingent upon the success of that business. Thus, American Bank and Trust Company was not an “investor” purchasing a “security,” as those terms are defined by the 1934 and 1933 Acts.

In enacting the securities laws, Congress did not intend to provide a broad federal remedy for all fraud. Marine Bank v. Weaver, 455 U.S. 551, 556, 102 S.Ct. 1220, 1223, 71 L.Ed.2d 409 (1982); Kotz, supra, at 1253; Bellah, supra, at 1114. This commercial transaction was not within the contemplation of the drafters and, therefore, appellant could not invoke the protection of those Acts. The District Court correctly determined that American Bank and Trust Company had improperly based jurisdiction on the federal securities laws.

Accordingly, the judgment of the District Court is affirmed.

COUNT FOUR
Harassment

26. Plaintiff hereby incorporates the averments contained in paragraphs 1 through 26 as though said averments were fully set forth herein.
27. On or about April 20, 2000, Jan Wallace of MWM filed a police report with the Scottsdale Police Department falsely claiming that Mitch DeShon and Luke Burwell had broken and entered the business offices of MWM on multiple occasions between the dates of February 7, 2000 and April 4, 2000. [Exhibit D, attached.]

1 28. In the report, MWM claimed that in addition to the breaking and entering, Plaintiff and his
2 colleague had stolen contract and personnel files, correspondence relating to pending
3 litigation against Plaintiff and DeShon, a notebook containing sales leads and client
4 information, and an address book belonging to Jan Wallace.

5 29. MWM also claimed that Jan Wallace was unable to receive her electronic mail.

6 30. Plaintiff has suffered embarrassment, annoyance, and emotional distress due to being 7 contacted by the Scottsdale Police Department investigating the false accusations.

8 31. Plaintiff's emotional distress and personal and professional defamation have been 9 compounded by the fact of MWM's publishing or broadcasting the allegations and 10 information regarding the police report to third parties, including but not limited to 11 DeYoung and Associates.

12 32. The Scottsdale Police Department has stated that it does not intend to pursue this matter as 13 an actual crime against the property of MWM.

14 33. Such harassment through filing of a false police report is a violation of A.R.S. § 13-2921
15 (5), a class one misdemeanor.

17 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff prays for judgment against Defendant as follows:

18 A. Payment of January wages and other compensation, trebled, with interest thereon at the 19 statutory rate from February 1, 2000, until paid;

20 B. Payment of business expenses with interest thereon at the statutory rate from February 15,
21 2000, until paid; s

22 C. A letter of retraction, personally signed by officers and directors of the corporation,
23 acknowledging the innocence, integrity, and honesty of Plaintiff in his business dealings
24 with MWM;

25 D. Damages in an amount to be determined at trial for damage to Plaintiff's professional and 26 personal reputation as a result of MWM's libel;

- 1 E. Damages in an amount to be determined at trial for damage to Plaintiff's professional and 2 personal reputation as a result of MWM's slander;
3 F. Damages in an amount to be determined at trial for embarrassment, annoyance, emotional
4 distress and damage to Plaintiff's professional and personal reputation as a result of 5 MWM's harassment in filing a false police report;
6 G. Payment of reasonable attorney's fees and costs, pursuant to A.R.S. § 12-341.01; and 7 H. Such other and further relief as this Court may deem just and proper.

8 May 25, 2000.

15 the company commenced limited operations in the business of medical microwave technology
16 acquisition. In or about September, 1996, DAI offered for sale and sold the securities that form
17 the basis for the herein cause of action. All of the acts of DAI as alleged herein occurred within

19

20 12. By virtue of the foregoing and otherwise, this court has jurisdiction over the 21 matter and the parties hereto and venue herein is proper.

22 II. EVENTS GIVING RISE TO DEFENDANT'S LIABILITY

23 The Offering.

24 13. Plaintiff repeats and realleges paragraphs 1 through 12 hereof as if fully set forth
25 hereinagain.

2 14. In or about August, 1996, defendant DAI entered into a "final" Acquisition
3 Agreement to purchase 100% of the issued and outstanding common stock of Genesis Health
4 Management Corporation ("Genesis")<sup>1</sup> for $15,000,000 ($12,000,000 cash and a $3,000,000
5 carry back Promissory Note) and 3,000,000 shares of DAI common stock (valued at $3.33 for 6 purposes of the acquisition). In order to finance the foregoing, DAI, through its Board of 7 Directors and in coordination with the Board of Directors of Genesis, authorized the sale of 8 1,000 units of securities in the form of "10% Convertible Subordinated Notes" (the "Notes").<sup>2</sup>

10 15. The Notes were not registered for sale with the United States Securities and 11 Exchange Commission (the "SEC") but were instead sold (purportedly) in reliance upon an 12 exemption from the registration requirements set forth in the Securities Act of 1933 (the 13 "Securities Act" or the "'33 Act"). The particular exemption relied upon requires that offers and 14 sales only be made to individuals or entities outside the United States. This exemption is 15 commonly referred to as "Regulation S."

17 16. In connection with the offer and sale of the Notes referenced herein above, DAI,
18 with the active assistance of Genesis and its Officers and Directors, prepared and circulated a 19 private offering memorandum (the "Memorandum") dated September 16, 1996. According to 20 the Memorandum, approximately 78% of the proceeds to be raised (total funds to be raised $18.5
21 million) or $14.5 million was to be used in connection with the acquisition of Genesis.
22

24
25 <sup>1</sup> According to the Memorandum, Genesis was engaged in, among other things, the business of small hospital management.

26 <sup>2</sup> Each of the 1,000 units were offered at $18,500 with interest payable semi-annually on January 15 and July 15 with the principal due on or before September 15, 2006.

2 17. According to DAI press releases and other information disseminated by or at the
3 direction of the company, Genesis, and their respective officers and directors (the individual
4 defendants hereto), at or leading up to the date of the Note offering complained of herein,
5 Genesis was touted as a highly profitable enterprise that would add substantially to DAI's
6 financial status. Indeed, according to information which the company disseminated or caused to 7 be disseminated in or about August, 1996, Genesis claimed to have 22 hospitals under contract
8 with double digit growth expected in the coming year. Specifically, according to a DAI press
9 release dated August 14, 2001, by virtue of the proposed acquisition of Genesis, pre-tax profits
10 were projected to be "over $10 million."

12 18. In actuality, Genesis' profitability and growth projects were either grossly over 13 stated or completely misrepresented altogether. Alternatively, the representations regarding 14 profitability and growth were not supported in fact. Further, notwithstanding repeated references
15 to the profitability of Genesis, the Memorandum contains no financial statements or other
16 specific information to support the company's assertions respecting the same. As a result,
17 plaintiff was required to simply take defendants' word that the company was indeed profitable
18 and that such profitability would positively impact DAI.

20 19. By virtue of defendants' glowing representations respecting Genesis' profitability, 21 and notwithstanding general disclaimers in the Memorandum to the contrary, plaintiff was led to 22 believe that investment in the Notes represented an extremely safe and secure vehicle in which to 23 place its funds. In addition, according to the Memorandum itself, although investors were 24 considered "unsecured," in the event of any merger or consolidation (see "The Proposed
26

2 Merger" below), any acquiring corporation or individual would be required to execute a
3 supplemental trust indenture for the benefit of the Note holders. As a result of the foregoing,
4 plaintiff was given further assurance that the Notes would be repaid.

5       20. In addition to the foregoing, by virtue of the conversion feature of the Notes (Note
6 holders were permitted to convert debt to common stock equity at $3.50 per share) and the 7 glowing representations regarding profitability, plaintiffs were further ensured of repayment of 8 their investment monies together with substantial profits thereon. In this regard, defendants,
9 either directly or indirectly, represented to plaintiff that it would secure NASDAQ (a higher
10 echelon stock market than the Bulletin Board) within one year and that, as a result, DAI's shares
11 would be highly liquid and, therefore, easily sold. More importantly, based upon the information
12 disseminated by defendants, the DAI's stock was projected to be trading at $6 per share within 13 one (1) year and $17 per share within three (3) years. As result of the foregoing, investment in 14 the Notes was touted as a "can't lose" proposition.

17       21. Based upon defendants' representations as set forth above and otherwise, plaintiff
18 determined to invest in the Notes. In this regard, in or about late October and early December, 19 1996, plaintiff purchased a total of 11 units for a total purchase cost of $203,500.
20

21 The Cover-up.

22       22. After the units were sold, the acquisition of Genesis was consummated. By virtue
23 of the foregoing, the owners of Genesis (including defendants Means, the Luckys and Asbury)
24 were paid $12 million cash, $3 million in the form of a carry back note, and approximately 25 3,000,000 shares of DAI common stock.
26

2 23. Shortly after plaintiff purchased the Notes, defendants continued to tout the 3 profitability of its Genesis subsidiary. For example in a December, 1996 press release,
4 defendants claimed that Genesis was "highly profitable" and that, by virtue of the same, no
5 further financing would be necessary for its other subsidiaries. In addition, the company claimed
6 to have an additional 11 hospitals committed for management services in 1997.<sup>3</sup> After the 7 December, 1996 press release referenced above (which information induced plaintiffs additional 8 investment), all DAI press releases referring to future profitability or other matters incorporated a 9 disclaimer stating, in effect, that there existed various risks which made achievement of such 10 future matters uncertain.
11

12 24. On or about January 15, 2000, the company refused or otherwise failed to make 13 the semi-annual interest payment. As a result, since that time, a condition of default has existed
14 and the full amount of DAI's debt to plaintiff is now due and owing and demand therefor is 15 hereby made.
16

17 The Proposed Merger.

18 25. As part of the Note indenture, defendant DAI is required to secure from any entity
19 or person that is to acquire "all or substantially all" of the company's assets a supplemental 20 indenture that, in essence, obligates the acquiring entity or person to assume responsibility for 21 repayment of the Notes.
22

25
26 <sup>3</sup> Although not incorporated into the Memorandum, information regarding the 11 additional hospitals and the fact that financing could now be internally generated was communicated to plaintiff prior to its December Note purchase and, in fact, such information was instrumental in its decision to invest additional funds.

2 26. In or about August, 2000, DAI entered into negotiations to merge its business into
3 another entity. As part of such merger, the merged entity has proposed to convert plaintiff's
4 Notes into common stock of the surviving entity. DAI and the (proposed) merged entity refuse
5 to acknowledge responsibility for the debt which the Notes represent as part of the financial
6 statements of the new entity. In any event, because of the limited operations of the merging
7 entity, it appears that repayment of the debt, even if recognized, would be dubious at best.

9 III. CLAIMS FOR RELIEF

10 First Claim for Relief

11 (Breach of Contract—DAI)

12 27. Plaintiff repeats and realleges paragraphs 1 through 26 hereof as if fully set forth
13 hercinagain.

15 28. The Notes at issue herein constitute a contract for the payment of money by and 16 between plaintiff and defendant DAI. In connection with the aforesaid contract, defendant DAI
17 was and is obligated to pay plaintiff 10% interest per annum on all outstanding principal and to 18 return to plaintiff such principal on or before September 15, 2006. DAI has failed or otherwise 19 refused to make the interest payments required and such failure or refusal constitutes a breach of 20 contract whereby plaintiff is entitled to demand, and plaintiff hereby so demands, repayment of 21 the entire principal now outstanding together with interest thereon at the rate of 10% per annum
22 from the date of default until paid in full.
23
25
26

2 29. By virtue of defendant DAI's breach of contract as set forth above, plaintiff is
3 additionally entitled to an award of its reasonably incurred attorney's fees pursuant to A.R.S. §
4 12-341.01.

5 Second Claim for Relief

6 (Securities Fraud-all defendants)

7 30. Plaintiff repeats and realleges paragraphs 1 through 29 hereof as if fully set forth
8 hereinagain.

10 31. The Notes offered for sale and sold by DAI to plaintiff constitute securities within 11 the meaning of A.R.S. § 44-1801(A)(23). All of the defendants participated, either directly or 12 indirectly, in the offers and sales of securities to plaintiffs at issue here by, among other things,
13 making or causing to be made untrue statements of material fact or omitting to state material
14 facts, in light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading. For example,
15 defendants misrepresented: that Genesis was highly profitable and, as a result, investment in the 16 Notes was not risky as would otherwise be the case with a development stage company; that, by
17 virtue of the protective clauses incorporated into the Notes offering, plaintiffs would be protected 18 against loss; that, although disclosed as a risk factor (i.e. inability to obtain subsequent 19 financing), Genesis profitability insured that financing needs would be generated internally. In 20 addition, while making affirmative statements regarding profitability, defendants omitted or 21 otherwise failed to disclose pertinent information respecting Genesis' actual results of operations
22 and financial condition.
23
24
25
26

1           32. The foregoing misrepresentations and omissions of material fact constitute
2 securities fraud within the meaning of A.R.S. § 44-1991(A)(2) and, by virtue of the same,
3 plaintiffs are entitled to rescind their purchase of Notes and they hereby tender the same pursuant
4 to A.R.S. § 44-2001. In addition, plaintiffs are further entitled to an award of interest on all
5 amounts invested together with its taxable court costs and reasonably attorney's fees.

7                           Third Claim for Relief

8                           (Declaratory Relief-DAI)

10          33. Plaintiff repeats and realleges paragraphs 1 through 32 hereof as if fully set forth
11 hereinagain.

12          34. The Notes and trust indenture thereunder purchased by plaintiffs constitute 13 contracts. In connection with such contracts, defendant DAI is obligated to take certain measures
14 to protect Note holders, including plaintiff, by securing a supplemental indenture whereunder any 15 entity or person acquiring all or substantially all of defendants assets must assume responsibility
16 for the debt represented by the Notes. By virtue of a proposed merger whereunder Note holders, 17 including plaintiff, are to be offered only equity participation and not recognition of the 18 outstanding debt, defendant DAI has or is about to breach the terms of the Note and trust 19 indenture thereunder.
20

21          35. The protections set forth above are involve an import legal right, status and 22 relations among the parties and they are therefore subject to declaratory adjudication.
23 Specifically, plaintiff is entitle to a declaratory judgment stating its rights vis a vis continuance 24 and a creditor to any entity acquiring defendants' assets.
25

IV. DEMAND FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff demands judgment in its favor and against the defendants as set forth herein as follows:

1. For all of plaintiffs' damages proximately caused by or incurred as a result of defendants acts as alleged herein and in an amount to be proven at trial in this matter but in no event less than $203,500;
2. For all pre-judgment and post-judgment interest at the legal rate on all amounts awarded herein;
3. For all of plaintiffs' costs and attorneys' fees incurred herein;
4. For declaratory judgment confirming plaintiff's rights under the Note and trust indenture agreement.
5. For such other and/or further relief as the court deems just and proper in the circumstances.

EXHIBIT "E"

STATEMENT OF FACTS

1. Jan Mary Wallace resides at [REDACTED]. Her social security number is [REDACTED].
2. Ms. Wallace has dual citizenship in Canada and purportedly in the Cayman Islands, but she is a resident alien and U.S. taxpayer.
3. Ms. Wallace is currently Chief Executive Officer, President, and a Director of Davi Skin, Inc. ("Davi Skin"), a thinly-capitalized, publicly-traded cosmetics company located either at 11990 San Vicente Blvd., Suite 300, Los Angeles, CA 90049 or 4223 Glencoe Avenue, Suite 130, Marina Del Rey, California.<sup>1</sup> Ms. Wallace is also President of Wallace Black Financial Services, a consulting company that assists firms with raising equity capital. Until January 17, 2008, Ms. Wallace also served as President, CEO, and a Director of Secured Diversified Investment, Ltd., a small publicly-traded company.
4. Ms. Wallace owns, directly or indirectly, and uses several offshore bank and securities accounts, as well as several offshore entities, to conceal her assets and trading profits from illegal penny stock "pump and dump" schemes and other activities.
5. Although the exact amounts at issue are unknown, Ms. Wallace has hidden substantial assets abroad, totaling millions of dollars. Upon information and belief, Ms. Wallace has not disclosed the existence of these assets or accounts to the Internal Revenue Service under Title 31 and has not reported the income generated in these accounts under Title 26.
6. Based on a Davi Skin Active Shareholder Report as of July 13, 2007 (issued by Davi Skin's transfer agent, Pacific Stock Transfer Company), attached hereto as Exhibit A, the four largest unrestricted common stock positions in Davi Skin were held by Arch Ltd., Hepburn Holdings Ltd., Sunshine Ltd., and The Chloe Group of Companies (Chloe is the name of Ms. Wallace's daughter).<sup>2</sup> All four of these companies are owned and/or controlled by Ms. Wallace, and all four have the same address: The LOM Building, 27 Reid St., Hamilton, Bermuda.

7. The LOM Building is owned and occupied by LOM Holdings, a Bermuda-based parent company of a group of financial services companies founded by brothers Brian Lines and Scott Lines. "LOM" stands for Lines Overseas Management. The Lines brothers and LOM Holdings are currently being sued by the SEC for engaging in illegal "pump and dump" penny stock scams. The complaint in this lawsuit, filed in 2007 in the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York, is attached hereto as Exhibit B. In addition to providing offshore brokerage services and administrative services for corporate nominees, the LOM group also provides offshore banking services. See <<http://www.lom.com/>>.

8. Ms. Wallace routinely wires funds to LOM Securities in Bermuda and the Cayman Islands as payment for administration of her corporate nominees Arch Ltd., Sunshine Ltd., Hepburn Holdings, Ltd., and The Chloe Group of Companies. See Exhibit C attached hereto. Ms. Wallace has wired funds to LOM using JP Morgan Chase and HSBC Bank USA as correspondent banks, with beneficiary banks including The Bank of Bermuda Limited (account number 1010-956504) and Bank of NT Butterfield (Bermuda) (account number 20.006.840.351501.100).

9. Ms. Wallace has also used and/or controls a firm named Bridge Street Services Limited in these transactions.

10. Ms. Wallace uses these offshore entities to acquire free-trading shares in defunct, publicly-traded corporate shells. These shell entities are then sold to a private company in what is termed as a “reverse merger.”<sup>3</sup> The transaction is a means of taking a private company public without the cost and scrutiny associated with an initial public offering.

11. After materially false information touting the merger and prospects for the new company is disseminated to the investing public (the “pump” phase), Ms. Wallace then causes her offshore corporate nominees (such as Arch Ltd., Hepburn Holdings Ltd., Sunshine Ltd., and The Chloe Group of Companies) to sell the free-trading shares of the company at an artificially-inflated price (the “dump” phase). Thereby, Ms. Wallace pockets substantial profits on the sale of the stock, and in turn avoids paying capital gains on the sales as the shares are sold by offshore nominees and the proceeds are retained in offshore accounts.

12. By her own admission under oath, Ms. Wallace has been sued at least six or seven times for fraud or similar malfeasance with respect to her roles in various public companies. In one such case, Thomas & Wong General Contractor, Inc. v. Blume Law Firm, et al., Superior Court of Arizona (Maricopa County), CV No. 2005-051325, Mr. Edward Tarapaski testified under oath that Ms. Wallace maintains offshore bank accounts. An excerpted copy of the trial transcript is attached hereto as Exhibit D.

by Davi Skin on July 9, 2008 and signed by Ms. Wallace, the lawsuit was settled for $650,000.

<sup>3</sup> Upon information and belief, Ms. Wallace has a long-standing relationship with Cane Clark, LLP, a Las Vegas-based securities law firm well known as a facilitator of thinly-capitalized reverse-merger transactions. Also upon information and belief, Ms. Wallace has conspired with several individuals in her pump and dump activities, including Kyleen Cane, a principal of Cane Clark LLP, as well as Devi Johal and Mujit Johal. These individuals may use offshore banking and brokerage arrangements similar to Ms. Wallace’s in order to conceal their activities.

13. Dennis Mandell, the whistleblower in this action, discovered the above information through an investigation of allegations of fraud associated with one of the companies Ms. Wallace appears to have intended to use as part of one of her pump and dump schemes.

LEGAL ANALYSIS

Based on the facts outlined above and upon information and belief, Ms. Wallace is in violation of two primary sets of rules administered by the IRS with respect to assets and transactions in foreign jurisdictions: (1) the foreign bank account reporting regime under 31 U.S.C. § 5314 and the regulations promulgated thereunder (commonly referred to as the “FBAR” requirements), and (2) the anti-deferral regime of subpart F of the Internal Revenue Code. These violations have resulted and continue to result in the material underreporting and fraudulent concealment of Ms. Wallace’s income and assets and render Ms. Wallace subject to civil penalties and interest, as described below.

Although Ms. Wallace is a citizen of Canada and possibly the Cayman Islands, she is a legal resident of the United States, and as such, is a “United States person” for federal income tax purposes and therefore subject to U.S. taxation on her worldwide income. See I.R.C. § 7701(a)(30).

Pursuant to 31 U.S.C. § 5314 and 31 C.F.R. § 103.24, “[e]ach person subject to the jurisdiction of the United States . . . having a financial interest in, or signature authority or other authority over, a bank, securities or other financial account in a foreign country shall report such relationship to the [IRS] for each year in which such relationship exists . . . .” These provisions require that a Form TD F 90-22.1, Report of Foreign Bank and Financial Accounts (FBAR) be filed if the aggregate balances of such foreign accounts exceed $10,000 at any time during the year. As Ms. Wallace is subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, and upon information and belief has not disclosed the existence of substantial assets held in accounts with Bermudan and/or Cayman Islands banks, Ms. Wallace is in clear violation of 31 U.S.C. § 5314. Accordingly, pursuant to 31 C.F.R. § 103.57(g)(2), Ms. Wallace is subject to a penalty of up to $100,000 for each violation (i.e., each failure to report a foreign account each year in which such account held more than $10,000 in assets).

Furthermore, I.R.C. § 951 requires that U.S. shareholders of controlled foreign corporations (“CFCs”) include, on a current basis, their pro rata share of all subpart F income earned by the CFC in which they hold an interest. A “U.S. shareholder” for purposes of subpart F is a 10% or greater stakeholder in a foreign company. A company is a CFC if it is held more than 50% by U.S. shareholders. Upon information and belief, Ms. Wallace’s corporate nominees managed by LOM Securities are held exclusively by herself and her immediate family members, and as such qualify as CFCs. Under I.R.C. § 952(a)(2), subpart F income includes all foreign base company income which in turn, under I.R.C. § 954(a)(1), includes all foreign personal holding company income. Section 954(c) defines foreign personal holding company income as, inter alia, dividends, interest, and gains from the sale of property such as stock or other capital assets. Accordingly, subpart F requires that Ms. Wallace include in her gross income all investment income and capital gains earned by her offshore entities. Upon information and belief, her failure to do so constitutes a violation of subpart F and is evidence of a willful attempt to evade her U.S. federal income tax obligations.

As a consequence of the violations described above, Ms. Wallace is subject to penalties and interest, in addition to the taxes due and owing. At a minimum, Ms. Wallace is subject to the I.R.C. § 6662 penalty for negligence or disregard of rules and regulations and/or substantial understatement of income tax, which imposes a penalty of 20% of the understatement attributable to the penalized conduct. Furthermore, Ms. Wallace may be subject to the civil fraud penalty of section 6663, which imposes a penalty of 75% of the understatement of tax liability due to fraud. The section 6663 penalty requires a showing of intent “to evade taxes known to be due and owing by conduct intended to conceal, mislead, or otherwise [to] prevent the collection of taxes, [where] there is an underpayment of tax.” Nelon v. Commissioner, T.C. Memo. 1997-

49. Ms. Wallace’s failure to disclose offshore accounts and the use of offshore entities to conceal her trading activities strongly suggests an intent on Ms. Wallace’s part to defraud the IRS, in addition to concealing her illegal securities activities. Finally, Ms. Wallace is also subject to interest on back taxes and penalties at a rate of 3% plus the short-term federal rate.

I.R.C. § 6621(a)(2). Interest began to accrue on the due dates of the returns for which there were understatements of tax liability. I.R.C. § 6601(e)(2)(B).

Incorporated v Jan Wallace. This is the time set for continuation of trial. The record will show the presence of counsel, the parties, and members of the jury.

Good morning. You may proceed

MR. MURPHY: Plaintiff calls Gary Blume.

THE COURT: Well, all right. We were in the midst of reading some deposition testimony, I think, when we recessed last night. Are you going to interrupt that deposition testimony to call Mr. Blume and return to that?

MR. MURPHY: I would request we do so, since he's a live witness.

THE COURT: All right, that's fine. Let's proceed. Will you step forward and be sworn, please?

GARY R. BLUME,
having been duly sworn herein, took the stand and testified as follows:

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. MURPHY:

Q Thank you, your Honor.
Your full name, please?

A Gary R. Blume.

Q You're an attorney licensed in this state, sir?

A Yes.

Q You have represented Jan Wallace since the, oh, mid 1990s, is that correct, in various matters?

A I don't specifically recall. I worked for her for a while.

Q Sir, let me show you what has been marked for identification as Exhibit 42. Do you recognize this as invoices, the first dated March 14, 2003, the second dated May 12, 2003, the third dated June 17, 2003, regarding service related to, oh, the transaction with BDV Investments and Thomas and Wong?

A I do recognize these. They are records that are kept in the ordinary course of my business. But they do not all relate to Thomas and Wong.

Q Fair enough. But they are accurate recitations of the time billed on those matters?

A Yes.

MR. MURPHY: I would offer Exhibit 42 into evidence, your Honor.

MS. AMBROSIA: I have no objection.

THE COURT: 42 is admitted.

BY MR. MURPHY:

Q Sir, I'm going to go to the first page of this exhibit. There are time entries on your invoice of March 14, 2003, as follows: March 6, 2003, Gary R. Blume, meeting with Jan and clients regarding drafting of promissory note, security agreement and discussion, preparation for meeting with forms and discussion at meeting. Then March 8, 2003, Gary R. Blume, meeting with client. Both of those for two hours.

Do you have a recollection of those meetings, sir?

A Not specifically.

Q Do you recall who was present in your offices on March 6, 2003, with regard to that meeting listed on the invoice?

A March 6th? No, I don't.

Q Do you recall who was present on March 8, 2003?

A Not specifically.

Q Was Jan present -- pardon me, was Jan Wallace present at both meetings, to the best of your recollection?

A I believe so. I'm just unsure of the dates.

02 06 08.txt

A During the time of -- you asked me where I was during the time of the wire transfer; is that right?

Q Yes.

A I was in -- I believe I was in Korea, not in Brunei.

Q Do you know when you went to Germany with John Beardmore?

A I believe I left Korea about in the last week of April, near the end of April.

Q So you made the wire transfer before you went to Germany?

A I think so.

Q So both wire transfers were made prior to you going to Germany?

A I think there was three. One was in the beginning of April, I remember that.

And I think there was two more after that. I have a record of it, if you want me to take a look.

Q Did you sue the Lake Bank?

A I did, yes.

Q Is that lawsuit still going on?

A I don't know what the status of it. The last I heard there was technicality that was preventing it from going forward.

They recited some statute, and I don't know what that statute really means. But right now it's not going forward. I think.
##98

Q So you don't know if they've refiled against the Lake Bank?

A I don't know.

Q But you didn't get a judgment against them?

A No, I didn't.

Q And you haven't --

A It hasn't gone to court. I've been deposed in that lawsuit, but it hasn't gone to trial yet.

Q And again, what were your duties in regard to Jan wallace?

A What does that mean?

Q Well, you testified that Jan wallace had all these duties to you. She was the attorney, the --

A I was to supply the money, that's what I was there for, that's what I agreed to do.

Q But that was not -- you, you were not providing the money to Jan wallace, you were providing the money to BDV?

A I think we've established that.

Q How much money did you pay Jan wallace?

A I didn't pay her anything, but it looked like she paid herself a hell of a lot.

Q What do you mean by that comment?

A Well, you know, there is 50,000 bucks that went to her, that I didn't know about, that I found out about later. That's one of the reasons I filed this lawsuit.
##99

Q Where does it show that the $50,000 went to Jan wallace?

A That was told to me by Billy Cortegiano in the spring of '05.

And I asked Jan wallace about it. She said that she had received $50,000. I was pretty upset about that.

Q But you knew that Jan wallace had a contract with BDV?

A No, I didn't know she had a contract with BDV.

Q But that's what you said in the Homeland Security report?

02 06 08.txt

A No, it isn't.

Q I discussed the loan with Jan Wallace and learned that the Lake Bank would be put into a public company shell that she owned and was listed on the stock exchange.

A Yeah, there was some general conversation about that. I don't know at what stage it is.

And there was about a two-minute conversation, I told her I wasn't interested in anything about that.

Q In the public company, you weren't interested?

A Yeah.

MS. AMBROSIO: I have no further questions.

THE COURT: Mr. Murphy.

CROSS-EXAMINATION

BY MR. MURPHY:

Q Sir, I want to clarify, there's a date at the top of this document, which is Exhibit 69, the submission that you made at the request of Homeland Security of September 3.

Is that when you created that document?

A I created the document in February of '03.

Q Let me go through some of the issues that were raised on examination.

You were asked a question at Page 2 about I discussed the loan with Jan Wallace and that Lake Bank would be put into a public company.

A Yeah.

Q Did she tell you she had an outstanding contract to do that?

A No.

Q Did she tell you that she was owed money by Lake Bank for that?

A No.

Q And that's what you put there, is as much as you knew about it?

A Yeah. That was a -- that conversation lasted about two seconds -- about two minutes.

That's not what I do, public companies are not what I do.

#101

Q Now, March -- let me go to the next page of this document, I believe it's Page 3 of Exhibit 69.

It starts March 6 '03: Jan Wallace, Ed Tarapaski, and John Beardmore meet at the law office of Gary Blume and draft and sign a promissory note attesting to the terms of our agreement.

Now, that was what you worked from -- you were working from memory at the time?

A Yeah.

Q Do you believe that's an accurate statement, in every respect, as you look at it today?

A No, it's not accurate.

Q What is inaccurate about the statement?

A The agreement was reached on the 6th of -- Could you put it back, please?

Q I beg your pardon?

A The agreement, the terms of the promissory note, were agreed to on the 6th.

And that's when the drafting, as I understood it, was going to start, but it was signed on the 8th of March, not the 6th.

Q Very well.

A Again, they told me not go into a lot of detail,

02 06 08.txt

24 just to give it to them.

25 Q Sir, next page: Jan thought of most of this and I
#102

1 think she did a good job of protecting our interest. I really
2 believe that she put our well-being ahead of any financial gain
3 on her part.

4 Was that your feeling at the time you wrote this in 5 February of 2005?

6 A Mostly it was.

7 Q What changed your mind about that, sir?

8 A The biggest thing was the detectives at Homeland
9 Security.

10 Q Describe why you say that.

11 A Well, in the, in the first meeting they asked me if 12 I could give them any more specific information.

13 And I said, well, I'll try to. And -- but I said I
14 think Jan Wallace could give you some pretty specific information
15 as well. And so that, that meeting ended.

16 And then I went to my second meeting with the 17 detectives, and they said, "well, I thought you told us that this 18 Jan Wallace was going to provide us with a lot of information."

19 They said, "We interviewed her and she was guarded,
20 aggressive, and evasive."

21 And so then they had me telephone her from their 22 office and they put me on a tape recorder and they told me to ask
23 her about the disbursements from this Cane and Associates.

24 So I dialed her number, her hand phone number, but 25 she didn't answer the phone.

#103

1 Q Was it Homeland Security that first alerted you to
2 the possibility that she might have not done things right?

3 A Yeah. They really had some strong suspicions about 4 her.

5 Q Now --

6 A There was other things besides that as well.

7 Q Now, sir, there were some questions about Thomas and 8 Wong, some suggestions that they were involved in some improper
9 conduct.

10 Did Homeland Security investigate Thomas and Wong?

11 A Yes, they investigated them. That was the first 12 thing they did, is they said they were going to investigate us.
13 I said that's fine.

14 Then they asked me for permission to investigate my 15 bank accounts. I said that's okay.

16 And then they asked me for permission to investigate
17 Thomas and Wong's bank accounts six months before this and six 18 months after.

19 And I told them I would have to phone Charlene Wong.
20 And I did and they gave them permission.

21 Q Did you hear anything further from the Homeland
22 Security about a problem with Thomas and Wong?

23 A No, I did not.

24 Q Sir, I'm going to -- I believe Page 6, the statement
25 that was put in front of you, all of the due diligence was

#104

1 complete except for the viewing of the gold.

2 A Yes.

3 Q Now, sir, at that time, had you investigated whether
4 Jan Wallace had completed the due diligence?

5 A Well, I asked her on several occasions, yes.

6 Q What had she told you?

7 A She said she had.

8 Q Was that the basis of the information that you had

02 06 08.txt

when you wrote this report to Homeland Security?

A No. I found out other things since then.

Q Subsequently. But at the time you send that to Homeland Security, you were relying on the information that Jan Wallace had given to you?

A I'm sorry, could you --

Q At the time you made this statement to Homeland Security, you were operating on the information that had been given to you by Jan Wallace?

A A lot of it.

Q Did you subsequently investigate whether those conditions had been satisfied?

A Well, I found out other information, yeah.

Q For instance, did you ever find a certificate of insurance in favor of Thomas and Wong?

A No.

Q Did you ever find a safekeeping receipt in favor of Thomas and Wong?

#105

A No.

Q I'll rely on prior testimony to make sure that we move down the path.

Sir, there were some suggestions made that you drafted Exhibit 18, a promissory note of March 6, 2003 for $275,000. I'll put that up here.

why did you hire Gary Blume, sir?

A To look after doing the legal work.

Q Did you do the legal work on this in any way?

A Not likely.

Q Did you draft that document, sir?

A No, I did not draft that document.

Q Do you have a clue who did?

A I don't know, but I saw it for the first time at Blume's office, so maybe he did.

Q Sir, let's go to the Homeland Security document, Exhibit 69. I'll go to the eighth page entry, under May 10, 2003.

I quote, "Time passed, and I was told the money was being held up in a Florida bank because the total melt was 12 million dollars and there was all kinds of paperwork to be completed.

I asked Jan why the money was in Florida.

She said, 'That was how the deal was structured with the refinery and she was in direct contact with the bank and it would be released soon.'

#106

I told her we should not be concerned with the whole 12 million dollars and just get our share released, which was only 1,875,000."

Also it continues -- I won't complete that paragraph.

Is that the information Jan Wallace gave you?

A Yes, that's the information she gave me.

Q Is that what you reported to Homeland Security?

A Yes. I don't know why they would send the money off shore, even though I know she's got bank accounts there. I have no idea why.

Q Let me to go to Page 43 of your deposition. You were asked some questions about that.

I'm going to try and squeeze this up a little bit. I think it's legible.

Down at Line 18.

And the answer was given, again, Jan was looking

10 WALLACE executed a notice of Partial Cancellation, electing to cancel a portion of the Note, 11 leaving a balance owing of $200,000.00 plus any interest accrued from the date of issuance.

12 7. Upon information and belief, concurrent with the Notice of Partial Cancellation set
13 forth in Paragraph 6 above, WALLACE executed a Loan Extension, agreeing to extend the maturity
14 date of the $200,000 loan to December 31, 2005.

15 8. Upon information and belief, on or about September 26, 2005, WALLACE
16 executed an Assignment of Promissory Note ("Assignment") assigning, conveying and transferring
17 all of her rights in the Note to the individual(s) identified in Schedule A ("Assignee") for valid
18 consideration.

19 9. Upon information and belief, on March 24, 2006, in anticipation of the 2005 year
20 end audit, DAVI, in conjunction with the accounting firm of Child, Van Wagner & Bradshaw PLLC,
21 contacted WALLACE regarding the outstanding Note, because, as of that time, DAVI had not yet
22 recorded the Assignment.

23 10. Upon information and belief, WALLACE wrote the following statement, by hand,
24 on the March 24, 2006 letter from Davi: "I state clearly, in the 2 and half years I have known Parish
25 [sic], I find him to be a liar, a cheat, self-serving and of low moral character." (See Exhibit "A").

26 11. Upon information and belief, on April 13, 2006, at approximately 5:10 p.m., 27 WALLACE transmitted, via facsimile, the March 24, 2006 letter, containing her hand written 28 statement that, "in the 2 and half years I have known Parish [sic], I find him to be a liar, a cheat, self-

1 serving and of low moral character," to Child, Van Wagner & Bradshaw & Company. Upon
 2 information and belief, WALLACE requested that Child, Van Wagner & Bradshaw & Company
 3 share her comments with DAVI management.

4 12. Upon information and belief, Child, Van Wagner & Bradshaw & Company then
 5 telephoned and faxed DAVI's Chief Financial Officer, Margaret Robley, and DAVI's Bookkeeper,
 6 Staci Robley, and relayed WALLACE'S handwritten notes wherein she stated: "I state clearly, in
 7 the 2 and half years I have known Parish [sic], I find him to be a liar, a cheat, self-serving and of low
 8 moral character."

9 13. Upon information and belief, Margaret Robley then telephoned MEDLEY to inform 10 him of the statement and faxed him a copy of WALLACE's statement.

11 FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION

12 Defamation Per Se

13 (Libel: private figure-private concern)

14 14. Plaintiff repeats, realleges and hereby incorporates paragraphs 1 through 13, 15 inclusive above, as if fully set forth herein.

16 15. Plaintiff is informed and believes, and thereon claims and alleges that defendant
 17 harmed Plaintiff by making the following statement: "I state clearly, in the 2 and half years I have
 18 known Parish [sic], find him to be a liar, a cheat, self-serving and of low moral character."

19 16. The statements were made in writing, and transmitted via facsimile, to Davi's
 20 Accountant, Child, Van Wagner & Bradshaw & Company, thereby constituting libel.

21 17. Child, Van Wagner & Bradshaw & Company relayed the defamatory and libelous
 22 statements to Davi's current CFO, Margaret Robley, and BookKeeper, Staci Robley, via telephone 23 and by transmitting same in writing.

24 18. Child, Van Wagner & Bradshaw & Company and Robley reasonably understood
 25 that the statements were about Parrish Medley, as the statement specifically identified plaintiff (i.e.
 26 defamation/libel per se).

27 19. Child, Van Wagner & Bradshaw & Company and Robley reasonably understood the 28 statements to mean that plaintiff had committed an illegal act, specifically with respect to the Note.

1           20.     Upon information and belief, defendant failed to use reasonable care to determine
2 the truth or falsity of the statement.

3           21.     Plaintiff is entitled to recovery against Defendant as the wrongful conduct was a
4 substantial factor in causing the following actual damages to plaintiff: (a) harm to plaintiff's
5 property, business, trade, profession and occupation; (b) expenses plaintiff has paid as a result of the
6 defamatory statements; (c) harm to plaintiff's reputation and (d) shame, mortification, and hurt
7 feelings.

8           22.     Due to defendant's conduct, Plaintiff has suffered mental distress, mental suffering,
9 and mental anguish, including, but not limited to highly unpleasant mental reactions, embarrassment,
10 anger, and worry.

11           23.     Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that such reckless, willful,
12 intentional, outrageous, conduct, acts, errors and omissions were conducted by Defendant with 13 malice, and entitle Plaintiff to punitive and exemplary damages in an amount to be submitted
14 according to proof.

15           24.     That Plaintiff requests and prays for damages, including compensatory, actual,
16 special, general, emotional distress and all other damages in an amount according to proof.

17                               SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION

18                               Defamation Per Quod

19                               (Libel : private figure - private concern)

20           26.     Plaintiff repeats, realleges and hereby incorporates paragraphs 1 through 13 and 15
21 through 24, inclusive above, as if fully set forth herein.

22           27.     Plaintiff is informed and believes, and thereon claims and alleges that defendant
23 harmed Plaintiff by making the following statement: "I state clearly, in the 2 and half years I have 24 known Parish [sic], find him to be a liar, a cheat, self-serving and of low moral character."

25           28.     The statements were made in writing and transmitted via facsimile to Davi's
26 Accountant, Child, Van Wagner & Bradshaw & Company, thereby constituting libel.

27           29.     Child, Van Wagner & Bradshaw & Company then relayed the libelous statements to 28 Davi's current CFO, Margaret Robley, and Bookkeeper Staci Robley, via telephone and by

1 transmitting same in writing.

2 30. Child, Van Wagner & Bradshaw & Company and Robley reasonably understood
3 that the statements were about Plaintiff (i.e. defamation/libel per quod).

4 31. Because of the facts and circumstances known to the listeners and readers of the 5 statements, they tended to injure Plaintiff in his occupation a, expose him to contempt and criticism,
6 and to discourage others from associating or dealing with him in a business capacity.

7 32. Defendant failed to use reasonable care to determine the truth or falsity of the 8 statement.

9 33. Plaintiff suffered harm to his property, business, profession, occupation, including 10 money spent as a result of the statements.

11 34. The statements were a substantial factor in causing Plaintiff's harm.

12 35. Plaintiff is entitled to recovery against Defendant as the wrongful conduct was a
13 substantial factor in causing the following actual damages to plaintiff: (a) harm to plaintiff's
14 property, business, trade, profession and occupation; (b) expenses plaintiff has paid as a result of the
15 defamatory statements; (c) harm to plaintiff's reputation and (d) shame, mortification, and hurt
16 feelings.

17 36. Due to defendant's conduct, Plaintiff has suffered mental distress, mental suffering,
18 and mental anguish, including, but not limited to highly unpleasant mental reactions, embarrassment,
19 anger, and worry.

20 37. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that such reckless, willful,
21 intentional, outrageous, conduct, acts, errors and omissions were conducted by Defendant with
22 malice, and entitle Plaintiff to punitive and exemplary damages in an amount to be submitted
23 according to proof.

24 38. Plaintiff requests and prays for damages, including compensatory, actual,
25 special, general, emotional distress and all other damages in an amount according to proof.

26 THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION

27 (Intentional Infliction of Emotional Distress)

28 39. Plaintiff re-alleges the allegations contained in paragraphs 1 through 13, 15

1 through 24 and 26 through 38, inclusive, and incorporate them by this reference as though set forth
2 in full.

3 40. Defendant's conduct towards Plaintiff as described herein was outrageous.

4 41. Defendant intended to cause Plaintiff emotional distress or acted with reckless
5 disregard of the probability that Plaintiff would suffer emotional distress.

6 42. Plaintiff suffered severe emotional distress.

7 43. Defendant's conduct as described herein was a substantial factor in causing
8 Plaintiff's severe emotional distress.

9 44. Plaintiff is informed and believes and thereon alleges that such reckless, willful,
10 intentional, outrageous, conduct, acts, errors and omissions were conducted by Defendant with
11 malice, and entitle Plaintiff to punitive and exemplary damages in an amount to be submitted
12 according to proof.

13 FOURTH CAUSE OF ACTION

14 Negligent Infliction of Emotional Distress

15 45. Plaintiff re-alleges the allegations contained in paragraphs 1 through 13, 15 through 16 24, 26 through 38 and 42 through 43 inclusive, and incorporate them by this reference as though set 17 forth in full.

18 46. Defendant was negligent towards Plaintiff as described herein.

19 47. Defendant owed a duty not to injure or defame Plaintiff and not cause him
20 emotional distress.

21 48. Defendant breached that duty towards Plaintiff by defaming him and injuring him.

22 49. Plaintiff suffered serious emotional distress, such distress that an ordinary,
23 reasonable person would be unable to cope with.

24 50. Defendant's negligence was a substantial factor in causing Plaintiff's serious
25 emotional distress.

26 51. Due to Defendant's conduct, Plaintiff has suffered mental distress, mental suffering
27 and mental anguish including, but not limited to highly unpleasant mental reactions, embarrassment,
28 anger and worry.

1           52.     Plaintiff prays and requests damages for emotional distress in an amount according
2 to proof.

3 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff prays for judgment against defendant as follows:

- 4           1.     For Judgment in favor of Plaintiff in am amount according to proof;
- 5           2.     For the sum of $1,000,000.00, as compensatory, special, general and other damages;
- 6           3.     For exemplary/punitive damages (except for the fourth cause of action) in an 7 amount according to proof;
- 8           4.     If Plaintiff fails to prove any actual damages but proves by clear and convincing 9 evidence that defendant knew the statement was false or had serious doubts about the truth of the 10 statement, then nominal damages are requested based upon the legal presumption of harm to 11 reputation on a per quod cause, and if plaintiff simply proves the necessary elements under a per se 12 cause, then nominal damages are automatic a there is an assumed harm to reputation.
- 13          5.     For costs of suit herein incurred.

JUDGE:

HON. MANUEL L. REAL

DECLARATION OF PARRISH MEDLEY

2 I, Parrish Medley, declare as follows:

3 1. I am over the age of 18 and one of the parties to this action. I
4 make this declaration in support of Plaintiffs' Opposition to Defendant
5 Wallace's Motion for Summary Judgment. I have personal knowledge of the 6 facts herein and, if called as a witness, can and will testify competently
7 thereto.

8 2. In early 2004, Carlo Mondavi approached me and asked me to 9 assist him with starting a new skin care company. Carlo was aware that I had 10 founded a company called Palm Beach Tan, Inc., and that I had built Palm
11 Beach Tan from the ground up; I began as a sole proprietor, opened the first 12 store, and grew the company from a single store into a highly successful
13 chain of 11 stores, using my own money, until I sold the business to a group
14 of private investors. Carlo, age 25, and his friend Josh Levine, age 24, 15 wanted to start their own company, Davi Skin. They were aware that I had 16 experience in founding a new company, building a brand, assembling a
17 management team, marketing, and the like, and asked me to guide them
18 through the process of starting Davi Skin.

19 3. In early 2004, I was appointed CEO of Davi Skin, Inc. My 20 responsibilities were to raise money for the company, recruit the proper
21 management, and build the financial, production, and marketing infrastructure
22 of the company. I decided that the first task would be easier if the company
23 were registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Davi Skin's Purchase of MW Medical, Inc.

24
25 4. I investigated the possibility of having Davi Skin make an initial 26 public offering, but I did not think this was possible as the company did not yet
27 have any earnings or any products. I discussed this situation with Kyleen
28 Cane, an attorney in Las Vegas, Nevada, who I had met, and she suggested

1 that Davi Skin would be a good candidate for a reverse merger.

2 5. Kyeleen Cane told me that she represented a company called MW
3 Medical, Inc., which was for sale. She said that she would speak to MW
4 Medical's president, Jan Wallace, on my behalf. While I became aware that 5 Ms. Cane had represented at least one company with which Ms. Wallace was 6 involved, Ms. Cane never informed me of her intimate, years-long business
7 and professional relationship with Ms. Wallace. Nor did she inform me that
8 for several years she had served as President of one of the penny stock shell
9 companies controlled by Ms. Wallace.

10 6. Ms. Cane informed me I could purchase MW Medical for 11 $250,000, plus $50,000 in past due legal fees the company owed to Ms.
12 Cane's firm. In return, I would receive a controlling interest in the company
13 – approximately 90% of its outstanding stock – and all outstanding Promissory
14 Notes.

15 7. I asked Ms. Cane to tell Ms. Wallace that this proposal was 16 agreeable to me, and Ms. Wallace flew to Los Angeles to meet with me, 17 whereupon we finalized the terms.

18 8. Before I purchased MW Medical, I reviewed the company's public
19 filings and financial statements to ensure that it was indeed an inactive shell
20 company; I did not want Davi Skin to inadvertently acquire a corporation
21 saddled with debts or one that had lawsuits pending against it. My review of 22 the financial statements quickly revealed that MW Medical had emerged from 23 bankruptcy in 2002 and had not transacted any business at all since then.

24 9. The financial statements stated that MW Medical was "indebted"
25 to Ms. Wallace and had issued her a Promissory Note which had a principal 26 amount totaling approximately $570,000 as of December 31, 2003. The 27 Promissory Note was convertible into the common stock of the company. Ms.
28 Cane informed me that Ms. Wallace would use this Note to effectuate the sale

1 and merger; she would first convert as much of the Note as was needed to 2 give her 90% of the Company's common stock. She would then convey the 3 common stock, and whatever portion of the Note which had not been 4 converted, to me at the close of the transaction.

5 Ms. Wallace and I Enter Into the Stock Purchase and
 6 Note Assignment Agreement

7 10. Accordingly, on March 15, 2004, I entered into a "Stock Purchase
 8 and Note Assignment Agreement" with Jan Wallace, Grace Sim, and MW
 9 Medical, Inc. (emphasis added.) A true and correct copy of the Stock
 10 Purchase and Note Assignment Agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit 2.<sup>1</sup>
 11 The document was prepared by Kyleen Cane.

12 11. Paragraph 1.2(c) of the Stock Purchase and Note Assignment
 13 Agreement requires Wallace and Sim to "deposit their shares and an 14 assignment of debt" into an attorney escrow account. (emphasis added.)

15 12. Pursuant to Paragraph 1.2(c)'s requirement that Wallace and 16 Sims execute an "Assignment of Debt," Wallace and Sim executed two 17 Assignments, true and correct copies of which are attached hereto as Exhibits
 18 8 and 9. Wallace's Assignment states in pertinent part:

19 "For value received, the undersigned note holder, hereby assigns, 20 conveys, and transfers all of her right, title, and interest in the 21 attached Promissory Notes issued by MW Medical, Inc....to 22 Parrish Medley or his assigns."

23 13. Wallace and Sim delivered these Assignments to me on the day
 24 of closing or shortly thereafter. Once I received the Assignments, I 25 believed the matter to be closed. Wallace and Sim no longer had any exhibits in the parties' Joint List of Exhibits.

1 interest in MW Medical or Davi Skin.

2 14. The written Stock Purchase and Note Assignment Agreement
3 contains all of the material terms of the agreement between myself and Ms.
4 Wallace.

5 15. When I executed the Stock Purchase and Note Assignment
6 Agreement, my intention – as evidenced by the agreement – was that Ms.
7 Wallace would convey her entire interest in MW Medical to me. At the close 8 of the transaction, she would not retain any interest in the company – whether 9 debt or equity – whatsoever. In colloquial terms, Wallace was required to sell
10 MW Medical to me lock, stock, and barrel. Wallace was not “investing” in 11 Davi Skin by merging it with MW Medical, she was selling MW Medical to me.
12 I would not have entered into the transaction on any other terms.

13 16. I did not expect to have any dealings Ms. Wallace after the 14 closing, but I did expect her to execute any additional paperwork necessary
15 to effectuate the sale and merger.

16 The Alleged Oral Agreement With Ms. Wallace

17 17. In her Declaration in support of her Motion for Summary
18 Judgment, Ms. Wallace has stated that on the day of closing, I entered into 19 a second, separate, oral agreement with her. According to Ms. Wallace, the 20 oral agreement provided that she would assign one of her MW Medical, Inc.
21 Promissory Notes to me on the condition that I pay her the full face value of 22 the Note upon reassigning it to another. This statement is false. I never 23 entered into any such agreement with Ms. Wallace, at the closing or 24 anywhere else.

25 The Assignment

26 18. At first, I intended to cancel the Notes once I received them from 27 Ms. Wallace and Ms. Sim so that Davi Skin would begin its tenure as a public
28 company without any outstanding debt obligations. However, when Ms. Cane

1 said that Ms. Wallace would be conveying a convertible Note to me, I decided
2 not to cancel it. A convertible note can be redeemed for either cash or 3 common stock. Ms. Cane explained that convertible notes can be useful to 4 a company because they afford the company great flexibility and allow the 5 holder of the note the option of either participating in the "upside" of a 6 company – via the conversion feature – or the repayment of the principal in 7 a set dollar amount.

8 19. Accordingly, I asked that the transaction be structured such that 9 after Ms. Wallace converted as much of the Note into MW Medical common 10 stock as was necessary to effectuate the merger, she would then reduce the 11 outstanding principal balance of the Note to $200,000, an amount I chose 12 because it converted into an even number of shares of company stock. Ms.
13 Wallace would then assign the Note to me at the close of the transaction. I
14 never intended to retain the Note for my own benefit, but instead intended to 15 use for the company's benefit. Accordingly, I asked that the Note be assigned 16 to "Parrish Medley or his assigns," so that I could use it for the benefit of the 17 company if the appropriate situation presented itself.

18 20. At the closing, Ms. Cane advised me that in order to effectuate the 19 reverse merger of MW Medical into Davi Skin, Ms. Wallace would convert a 20 portion of the Note into MW Medical common stock. Ms. Cane told me that I
21 should then execute a new Promissory Note, payable to Ms. Wallace, in the 22 principal amount which remained outstanding after the conversion. Ms.
23 Wallace would then reduce the principal balance of the Promissory Note to 24 $200,000. Finally, Ms. Wallace would assign the Note to me. Ms. Cane told 25 me that these steps were necessary to effectuate the stock split, reverse
26 merger, and sale (as described in the Stock Purchase and Note Assignment 27 Agreement), and I relied on Ms. Cane's advice and followed her instructions.
28 True and correct copies of the original Note, and the new Note in the reduced

1 principal amount, are attached hereto as Exhibits 3 and 5.

2 Kyleen Cane Becomes Davi Skin's General Counsel

3 21. After the Stock Purchase and Note Assignment Agreement
4 closed, I asked Kyleen Cane to become the general counsel to Davi Skin.
5 Davi Skin needed an experienced securities lawyer, so I asked Ms. Cane to 6 represent the company, and she agreed.

7 22. My knowledge of the securities laws is very limited. I worked as 8 a stockbroker for a few years upon my graduation from college, but that was 9 almost 20 years ago, and even then I only had a perfunctory working 10 knowledge of the laws specifically applicable to brokers. I have never served
11 as an officer or director of a public company and I know almost nothing about 12 the laws applicable to individuals serving in those positions. Therefore I relied 13 on Ms. Cane to inform me – and Davi Skin – of all applicable laws and 14 regulations.

15 23. Ms. Cane prepared all of Davi Skin's securities filings and gave 16 them to me to sign. I relied on her advice and assurances that the filings
17 were correct. All of the filings disclosed the $200,000 Note on the balance
18 sheet, so investors were always aware that the company owed this obligation.
19 I once asked Ms. Cane whether the filings should be amended to also state
20 the fact that the Note had been assigned to "Parrish Medley or his 21 designates." She said that would be fine, but it was unnecessary as I did not 22 intend to personally benefit from the Note. She told me that since Ms.
23 Wallace had already agreed to execute a new Assignment (see Paragraph 25 24 infra), it would be easier to simply amend the company's filings once the 25 Assignment was executed to state the name of the new assignee. I followed
26 Ms. Cane's advice. If she had told me that the filings needed to be amended
27 to state my name as the holder of the Assignment, I would have followed that 28 advice as well.

Ms. Cane Informs Me that the Assignment Should Be Modified

24. A few months after the Stock Purchase and Note Assignment Agreement was signed, in the late summer or fall of 2004, I told Ms. Cane that I wanted to assign the Note to David Kagel to compensate him for services to the company. Ms. Cane informed me that the Assignment might make the Note subject to restrictions on trading if the assignee were to convert the Note into common stock or present it for payment.

25. As was stated above, the assignment was to "Parrish Medley or his designates." I never intended to keep the Assignment for myself, but instead intended to give it to Mr. Kagel. I certainly did not regard myself as the beneficiary of the Assignment. If I had been unable to give it to Mr. Kagel or had otherwise been unable to use it for the benefit of the company, I would have cancelled the Note.

26. In general, restrictions are imposed on the company debt and equity obligations to corporate insiders, such as the CEO of the company. These individuals are required to hold their debt and equity obligations and refrain from trading them for a set period for time after issuance, generally two years. The restriction follows the debt and equity obligations, and anyone receiving them from the corporate insider becomes subject to the restriction. This prevents the corporate insider from circumventing the holding period by conveying his or her stock to a relative, for example. Because the Assignment was to "Parrish Medley or his designates," the Note it assigned might be deemed restricted. The investor who received the Assignment might be unable to freely negotiate the Note thereafter.

27. Ms. Cane recommended that Ms. Wallace execute a new Assignment, in blank, i.e. an assignment to "the individuals on Schedule A," and not "Parrish Medley or his designates." She said that this was not strictly necessary, as she believed that the Assignment was all right in its present

1 form. However, she said that the best and most efficient course of action was
2 simply to execute a new Assignment. She said that Ms. Wallace was required
3 to perform such "cleanup work" under the terms of the Stock Purchase and 4 Note Assignment Agreement.

5 28. Almost immediately thereafter, I contacted Ms. Wallace and asked
6 her to execute a new Assignment. She agreed, but demanded 10,000 shares
7 of company stock in return for doing so. I was shocked by her demand. She
8 had agreed to execute any paperwork necessary to effectuate the Stock
9 Purchase and Note Assignment Agreement, and she was breaching her 10 promise. Second, I was shocked that Ms. Wallace would try to take 11 advantage of Davi Skin in this way. At first I had no intention of giving her 12 anything. I reflected on the matter further and realized that the only way I
13 could compel Ms. Wallace to honor the Stock Purchase and Note Assignment
14 Agreement was to sue her. That would cause Davi Skin to incur attorneys'
15 fees and might take many months, if not years, to resolve. Although I deeply 16 resented Ms. Wallace's demand, I decided that the most expeditious thing to 17 do was give her 10,000 shares of my own stock. I had over 1,000,000 shares
18 of Davi Skin stock at the time, so my proposal to convey 10,000 shares to Ms.
19 Wallace did not substantially decrease the amount of my holdings. Ms.
20 Wallace then said she would execute the new Assignment, and said that she 21 would get Kyleen Cane to draw up all the necessary paperwork.

22 29. Ms. Wallace never executed the new Assignment. I intended to 23 transfer the 10,000 shares of stock at the same time that she executed the 24 new Assignment, but Wallace never executed anything so I never transferred 25 the shares. In the months that followed I periodically asked Kyleen Cane to 26 remind Ms. Wallace of her promise to execute the new Assignment, but Ms.
27 Wallace never executed it.

28 30. Sometime after Ms. Wallace and I discussed the need to execute

1 a new Assignment, Kyleen Cane reminded me that the Note was due on 2 December 31, 2004. Ms. Cane said she had asked Ms. Wallace to extend the 3 due date of the Note until we could resolve the issue of the Assignment,
4 which Ms. Wallace did.

5 Ms. Wallace Executes The Assignment in Blank

6 31. In or about August, 2005, the Note was about to mature again; it
7 was due on December 31, 2005. I was also tired of waiting for Ms. Wallace,
8 who still had not executed the new Assignment, and decided to resolve the 9 issue of the Assignment once and for all. Although Ms. Wallace had 10 promised to coordinate everything with Kyleen Cane, she had not done so.
11 Therefore, I directed Ms. Cane to draft the revised Assignment, and asked her
12 to tell Ms. Wallace that she needed to finally execute it. Ms. Cane informed
13 me that Ms. Wallace would be more likely to do this if I gave her the 10,000
14 shares of stock first, so I asked Ms. Cane to issue it to her. A true and correct
15 copy of the August 2, 2005 email from me to Kyleen Cane directing her to 16 issue 10,000 restricted shares to Ms. Wallace is attached hereto as Exhibit 17 42.

18 ~~32. A few days later Ms. Wallace claimed that I had agreed to give~~
19 ~~her 10,000 shares of unrestricted company stock instead of 10,000 of my own~~
20 ~~restricted shares. This statement was false. I never agreed to this, as I had~~ 21 ~~no unrestricted stock to give, and had no reason to direct the company to~~ 22 ~~issue it. I refused to give her any restricted stock. A few days later, she~~ 23 ~~dropped her request for 10,000 unrestricted shares and said she would~~ 24 ~~accept $10,000 in cash instead.~~

25 33. When Ms. Wallace made this demand, my relationship with Carlo
26 Mondavi and Josh Levine, the other principals of Davi Skin, was very strained.
27 Shortly thereafter, I resigned from the company. At the time, however, I
28 thought I still might continue my relationship with Davi Skin. The last thing I

1 needed at this delicate time was a contretemps over the Assignment and the 2 due date of the Note. Therefore, I agreed to give Ms. Wallace the $10,000.

3 34. Ms. Wallace told me that she was going to be in Newport Beach,
4 California, and suggested that we meet at a Carl's Jr. across the street from 5 the office where she would be transacting business. I met her there, paid Ms.
6 Wallace the $10,000 from my own funds – in cash, as she had specified –
7 and Ms. Wallace executed the new Assignment in blank. A true and correct
8 copy of the Assignment is attached hereto as Exhibit 18.

9 35. Soon thereafter, Ms. Wallace gave Ms. Cane one or more (I
10 cannot remember whether it was one or two) extensions of the Note. This 11 was because the new Assignment was in blank, i.e. it was issued to the 12 "individuals identified on Schedule A." Schedule A was to be created later, 13 when the Assignment was given to its recipient. In the meantime, however,
14 the Note might come due, and because Schedule A had not yet been filled in,
15 there was technically no one with the authority to extend the due date.
16 Therefore, Ms. Wallace one or more extensions as well to simplify matters.

17 I Give the Assignment to David Kagel

18 36. Ever since I became CEO of Davi Skin, David Kagel provided the 19 company and me with invaluable advice. For example, in 2004 he introduced 20 Davi Skin to David Horner, a legendary cosmetics industry executive who 21 helped launch Giorgio perfume. David Horner has been retained by several 22 companies, as well as several celebrities, to assist with the creation and 23 development of fragrances and skin care products. In particular, Mr. Horner
24 has worked with Hermes, Unilever, Procter & Gamble, Tiger Woods, and 25 Prince Albert of Monaco. David Kagel arranged the introduction of David 26 Horner to Carlo Mondavi and Josh Levine. Carlo, Josh and I had several 27 meetings with Mr. Horner in both Los Angeles and New York. I wanted Mr.
28 Horner to become the new CEO of Davi Skin (I always intended to serve as

1 the company's interim CEO, as my particular expertise was not in the 2 cosmetics industry) but Carlo and Josh decided that they could not work with 3 him.

4 37. David Kagel also introduced me to Pamela Friedman (an 5 acquaintance of David Horner's), a former merchandising and product
6 development executive at Crabtree & Evelyn, the perfume and skincare
7 products company, and Victoria's Secret. In addition to this, David Kagel
8 provided me with a great deal of counsel and other advice and, I believed,
9 would have continued to be an invaluable asset in the future. Therefore, I
10 decided to assign the Note to him. As early as 2004, I told Carlo that I was 11 assigning the Note to Mr. Kagel.

12 38. After receiving the new Assignment in blank from Ms. Wallace, I
13 gave it to David Kagel.

14 I Resign as CEO of Davi Skin

15 39. By December, 2005, my relationship with Davi Skin proved 16 irreparable. I had a different vision for the future of the company than the 17 other principals. Finally, in late 2005 the company hired Joseph Spellman to 18 assume the role of CEO, and the company and I negotiated a separation 19 agreement.

20 Ms. Wallace Threatens to Write a "Five-Page Letter."

21 40. Shortly thereafter, in March, 2006, Ms. Wallace telephoned me
22 again and asked for another meeting at the Carl's Jr. in Newport Beach. She 23 said that she had received a letter from Davi Skin's auditors inquiring about 24 the status of the Note. She offered to "split" the proceeds of the Note with 25 me. I told her that the note had never been mine to "split," and that in any 26 case I had assigned the Note to David Kagel. She asked me to "think about"
27 her proposal, and said that if I did not agree to her proposal she would write
28 a "five-page letter" to Davi Skin's auditors. I told her that there was nothing

1 to think about and left the meeting. As I was driving home, Ms. Wallace
2 called me on my car phone and asked me to "sleep on" her proposal and call
3 her in the morning. I never returned her call.

4 Ms. Wallace's Allegations

5 41. Ms. Wallace has alleged that I promised to enter into various 6 agreements with her, one Kelly Black, and one Michele Stewart to perform
7 various consulting and private placement services. This statement is simply 8 false. I do not recall ever meeting Michele Stewart. I did meet Kelly Black 9 once, in 2004. When I was discussing the need for the new Assignment with 10 Ms. Wallace, she said that a woman named Kelly Black might be able to help
11 me raise money for Davi Skin. I decided to include a stop in Arizona on my 12 next business trip and met with Ms. Wallace at a luncheon meeting. At the 13 luncheon, she introduced me to the manager of a mutual fund who claimed
14 to be able to raise an-unlimited amount of capital for Davi Skin. When I
15 pressed him for details he responded that his plan required the Mondavi
16 family to back Davi Skin's with Mondavi Winery Company stock, a plan which 17 I knew to be unworkable. Ms. Black, who I met later that afternoon, claimed 18 to know several investors who might be willing to invest in Davi Skin. I spoke 19 to only one such investor, via telephone, but no investment capital ever 20 materialized. Ms. Black also knew of two fledgling skincare companies and 21 suggested that Davi Skin might want to enter into partnerships with them.
22 Carlo, Joseph Spellman and I examined these proposals and determined they 23 were not worth pursuing. None of the proposals of Ms. Wallace or Ms. Black 24 were of any substance, and none of the investment capital they claimed they 25 could bring to Davi Skin ever materialized. I certainly never agreed to enter
26 into any of the alleged agreements with them.

We did get Jan to sign something; in fact, two somethings. I had her sign an extension to 12-31-05 and then another one to 9-06. (See attached) We were concerned about the dates and having to go back to her. So we focused on extending the time of the note for the auditor. We didn't have her change the transferee on the separate transfer agreement - now undated. This was one of those black bag documents which transferred the note to you or your designates. We never discussed this, but if you want to get your name off of it then we can get her to sign another one - we just need to get her the 10k shares.

In any case, we should get her the shares as soon as possible because the holding period on the transfer won't start until you make the transfer (unless you want to give her shares from the exercise of the options that were registered). I will have Susan work with you on the paperwork with you and the transfer agent, but basically it is just you sending in your certificate to the transfer agent with instructions.

I will try to free up the early part of Friday night so we can meet. 4:30 to 6 pm?

Glad you are back. I will be in meetings most of Friday but open on Saturday. Might be able to do something later in the day on Friday if need be.

I will work on Jan, but she has been asking about the stock you promised her. It would go a long way if we did a transfer and gave her the stock first and then asked her to make the change. Let me know.

I expect to get the draft SB2 back from Scott Wednesday or Thursday so should have something for you to look at when you get here.

See you then, Ky

Hi ky

K/M

I am back from my 2nd travel--exhausted...

I plan on being in Vegas Friday--any chance you are free for a bit Friday or Saturday--I plan on bringing you a check....I would like to get a copy of the last agreement thingy from Jan--I think it was worded to Parrish or his assigns -- I think it would be better if it were just To ..... Another words blank as to who it is assigned to.....Can you take care of that for me and have a copy for me when we meet.....Where are we with this SB2 filing and you were going to provide me with a copy of the letter we would provide shareholders so that they can provide their broker when they choose to sell their stock 1st round guys and I think you said we would need to provide the same letter even when this SB-2 is filed and approved/cleared whatever.... Do you need anything from me in regards to getting this stock cleared to trade....

Regards,
P.
